The Toccoa-Stephens County Animal Shelter is pleased to announce a second concert series to help with rising costs and budget cuts at your local shelter. We are again asking for a financial commitment from businesses to help underwrite this series. As we help meet the needs of our much-needed facility the series will provide entertainment for this community.

As last year, we will be printing one program for the entire series and promotional flyers; your business ad will be seen by attendees and potential customers over a 11-month period. Attendees who support the shelter and its concerts support the businesses that make these events possible. The flyers will also be available to sponsors to share with the visitors to your business upon request.

The shelter must generate one-third of its operating budget each year so the concert series helps to complete that commitment. For the past year over 1500 animals have been rescued or surrendered to the shelter - whether picked up via animal control officers or surrendered by individual citizens, the numbers are extremely high.

Please review the attached concert series and the level of sponsorships and let us know your choice. Use it as an incentive to your employees or take a few well-deserving employees to one of the events as recognition of their contribution to your business - use them to build a team reward for a project well done. We will have all business-sponsored tickets at the box office the night of the event to make them easily available. If you have any special way you want a set of tickets distributed, don't hesitate to let us know. Call the shelter at 706-282-3275, shelter director at 706-244-6030, or our concert coordinator Peggy Chambers at 706-886-1855.

Please let me know if you have any questions, comments or even a suggestion for a performer. We are already working on the 2025 series.
